DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 4, 6 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ohara et al (US 5,069,141).

Ohara et al discloses a rail mounted transportation system comprised of a rail 16, and a support body 24. The body 24 is further comprised of a load bearing section generally numbered as 43. The load-bearing unit includes a frame 54 and gripping mechanism 42. A lower wheel 78 on the body 24 is position under the rail 16 close to the load bearing section 43. An upper drive wheel 28 is positioned on the upper opposite side of the rail 16 from the lower wheel 78 and the load bearing section 43. The upper and lower wheels are adapted to produce a force against their respective sides of the rail in order to move the device along the rails and especially through curved portions, as shown in figures 5 and 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohara et al (US 5,069,141).

Ohara et al discloses the transportation system as disclosed above. However, Ohara discloses an overhead conveyor where the load-bearing member is suspended from the body and overhead rail. Ohara et al does not show the load bearing section to be closer to the upper wheel. It is well known in the art that transportation systems with load bearing structures are not only overhead but also can be installed into a floor. It would have been obvious to understand that a transportation system, like that of Ohara et al could be positioned differently with the load bearing structure above the drive assembly, thereby making the load bearing structure closer to the upper wheel. This assembly would be beneficial to environments where the loads carried by the load bearing structure are too heavy or cumbersome to be suspended from overhead rails.
